Programming Experience

Chrome Extension Project

Apr 2019 – PRESENT

Designed to integrate with high-traffic sites and customize user experience. Have had over 1000 downloads in the Chrome store in the first four months.

Softserve.io

Aug 2018 – PRESENT

A full-stack sales productivity app built on Node.JS, MongoDB using a variety of libraries and custom code. It has a full integration with SalesForce including OAuth, DB queries and several other functions. Currently 60+ active users on the Beta using it in their actual day to day operations. This project has required the use of many advanced concepts including object-oriented programming, state management, websockets, daemon process management and many more.

Colt Steele's Web Developer Bootcamp (basic/advanced)

Apr 2016 - July 2017

The web developer bootcamps trained me on languages like JS, NODE and Mongo. The courses themselves were very challenging and required a lot of trial and error. I used the courses as a starting point to take on more challenging projects and expand my skill set.
